Secrecy in government is again in the headlines with the TV man getting canned because he gave a weekly newspaper some secret government papers. I fully believe in freedom of the press, ut some things go a little too far. It is necessary for government to have things that are not for everybody to know - the recent publishing of CIA agents names lead to at least one uncalled for death of a fine mah. Even when no life is at stake directly, many things must be quiet, at least for present.

When you start talking about a law to make leaking of government secrets a clear-cut crime you get on hazy ground. I can't forsee any law that could be written that someone couldn't abuse, one way or another. Then too, as the saying goes, "you can't legislate morals." The problem with trusting common sense is that everyone has enough common sense to be able to use it freely and also varying opinions cause those who have common sense to apply it in various ways. Anyway, I think freedom of the press

I didn't realize how many good neighbors and other friends my wife and children had until Heddy went to the hospital and all these folks started doing things, large and small, for our family. We have been exposed to so much good food during the past week that I am sure my belt buckle is out at least two notches. The children and I thought we were doing OK until we started digging into some of those groceries these ladies brought by for us to eat! We found out just how quickly we had gotten tired of those snacks we had been eating.

A lot of folks serving in elective or appointed public offices are bucking at signing the papers sent out by the ethics commission.

This is their right and I defend their right to make the choice ich includes Pike and Coffee but really there ain't nothing in the disclosure statement that could ever embarrass a signer. Most of the questions ask for general answers such as "over $1,000" or "over $10,000". But again if they want to resign rather than sign, more power to Still another candidate has qualified for Commissioner in District . Two more have qualified for school board. One question I will be asking the commissioner candidates is, "How do you feel of New Brockton High School, about the pick-up trucks." I personally feel that issuing a truck to each commissioner with all expenses paid is outdated. Mary Elizabeth Armstrong.

An additional payment in the form of expense money would be They have three daughters much better - at least then we would have some control over the expenses of a commissioner. Now they can be (and have been) Marty abused for personal use. Now common sense dictates that if I or anyone else riding a county truck, twenty miles from home and wanted to handle some personal business "just down the road" we wouldn't go home and get our personal truck before handling our business. With the flat expense account, the commissioner could do what he pleased and it wouldn't be my business or your business (nor would it be our money if he

THE EYES OF A BASKETBALL PRACTICIONEER. AT PRESS TIME THE AREA TOURNEYS HAD JUST BEGUN.

In 1-A, Region Two is the strongest in the State. Rebecca Comer and New Brockton should have little trouble in their area tournaments. Comer, 25-2, is small but extremely quick. The King Kongs only stumbling block could be Clio. The Yellow Jackets 17-4 are also small and are excellent shooters. New Brockton has already breezed past all six area opponents in rolling up a 17-9 record. The Gamecocks although inconsistent have played a 3-A schedule and the competition should help them make it to the State for a second straight year.

Region I also has two powers. Red Level 23-3 should edge out W. J. Jones 19-9 for the region title. Other top Class A schools are New Site 24-1, a semi-finalist in last years tourney, and Five Points 24-2. Region 2 is also very strong in 2-A. Florala and Headland lead respective areas with excellent marks. Florala 20-5 is a big physical ball club with State playoff experience. The Wildcats are led by 6-3 center Willie Williams who is averaging over 17 points and 12 rebounds a contest. The Cats shouldn't have much trouble in area competition. Headland achieved its 24-3 record mainly on the strength of its defense. The Rams have allowed only 42 points a game while scoring 62. The Rams 3 losses came at the hands of 3-A Ashford and 4-A Ozark. Headland could be pushed for the area crown by Abbeville but not very hard. The top 2-A quintet in Region l is Francis Marion. Marion rolled over its first area opponent scoring over 100 points Oak Grove heads the list of North Alabama teams with a 26-0 3-A teams will play chase Guntersville at Tuscaloosa. Guntersville 30-1 has the most exciting player in the state, Kent Looney, last year's state tourney MVP Region 2 has some good 3-A ball clubs. Andalusia, Ashford, and Troy all have shots at state berths. Andalusia should win their area but Ashford, Troy and Eufaula should have a mad scramble for their region spot. Eufaula could surprise some people. The Tigers are probably the best 6-15 team in the state. In Region 1 Evergreen and Jackson are the teams to beat. Evergreen has won 19 of last 20 to give them their seventh consecutive 20 game win season.

Other top 3-A teams are Tallassee 18-3, Clanton 21-4 and Glenn 19-6. Clanton has an 18 game win streak going into the

The 4-A championship is a wide open race. There is no team of the caliber of Robert E. Lee or Parker last year. Auburn and Central are top teams in the southern part of the state. · Central 25-3 is a big well coached team. They have 4 starters over 6-5. One of the top teams in the north is Glenn 19-6. One highlight for Glenn is their sixth man. This spot is filled by George Lindsey, Honorary are Buddy Alan, Terry Anthony Murray's sister who is averaging six points in a
